

60%

Say their coworking network is their top source for getting work

Coworking, it's not just where you work, it's where you find work.

Coworking brings people together.

85%

Turn to other members for help

89%

Meet with other members of their coworking space socially

Members seek spaces that create connections.

- Coworking members want spaces that create connections among members through introductions, hosting events, or creating physical spaces.
- Coworking members want interior spaces that both allow for deep work, but also encourage collaboration.

Coworking supports neighboring businesses.

- Nearly all coworking members visit neighboring businesses multiple times a week.
- The most popular locations are retail shops, gyms, coffee shops, and restaurants.

The most important attribute in a coworking space? No surprise... it's community.

54%

Say the people in their coworking space are very important

52%

Say being a part of the community is very important

